- Between 15 March and 15 April shipments of office furnishings from Prague, Budapest, and Sofia arrived in Vienna. The shipments were handled by Soviet-controlled economic agencies and are reportedly destined for the World Peace Council.
- Special efforts are being made to keep the World Peace Council from becoming known as the consignee. The shipments were finally consigned to the Soviet-requisitioned office building at Moellwaldplatz 5, Vienna IV, and to an unidentified building at Hollandstrasse 9, Vienna II.

Comment. Rumors regarding the possible move of the World Peace Council headquarters from Prague to Vienna have been current for some time.
